

Railway & Canal Historical Society

A Bibliography of the History of Inland Waterways, Railways and Road Transport in the British Isles, 2021

This is the first annual cumulation to benefit from the assistance of an enhanced team of helpers, and we are therefore grateful for help from Richard Booth, Peter Brown, Philip Brown, Richard Coulthurst, Stephen Duffell, Steph Gillett, Michael Harding, Chris Heaton, Tony Kirby, John May, Ian Mitchell, Michael Perrins, Paul Reynolds, Michael Thomson, Anne Willis, others who offered support and encouragement, and, for the provision of complimentary copies of their journals, the Cumbrian Railways Association, Great Eastern Railway Society, Great North of Scotland Railway Association, Industrial Railway Society, Midland Railway Society, Subterranea Britannica and Welsh Railways Research Circle.

As usual "Ott. xxx" indicates an entry in Ottley's Bibliography of British Railway History.

‘Vote trading among lawmakers (logrolling) can enable political rent-seeking but is difficult to identify. To achieve identification, we explore the rules governing voting for railway projects in the U.K. Parliament during the Railway Mania of the 1840s. Parliamentary rules barred MPs from voting directly for their interests. Even so, they could trade votes to ensure their interests prevailed. We find that logrolling was significant, accounting for nearly one-quarter of the railway bills approved.’
